Elements, insects vex two stranded fishermen

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Swarms of horseflies, cold, rain, rough seas and uncooperative boaters plagued two men stranded in their disabled speedboat in Heron Bay Monday night.
The men and their craft were towed by a U.S. Coast Guard boat to Roy Baxter's Marina in Pearlington by 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.
Willis and Douglas Scogin, middle-aged brothers both of Slidell, had finished shrimping at about 6 p.m. Monday in the Louisiana marshes near Half Moon when their inboard-outboard engine stopped running.
The Louisiana shrimping season opened that day.
Although both men were noticeably haggard they appeared to have dealt with the adverse situation coolly.
Willis Scogin explained he is a retired U.S. Merchant Marine ship captain and his brother is presently a skipper.
"We're both used to the water," he said.
The retired captain reported, "We had been dragging our net yesterday afternoon. As soon as we picked up the net I shot the coal to the engine, but it started missing and eventually died out."

"We took just about everything off the engine, but still couldn't figure out what was wrong," he stated.
Scogin said swarms of large green horseflies then began pestering the two as winds and choppy seas pushed their 22-foot wooden V-hull into Heron Bay. The two slept periodically in deck chairs with just a canvas top cover for protection.

Douglas Scogin noted, "We saw two tugs, one at 11:30 p.m. and another at 2 a.m., and we shot off red parachute flares each time."
"We did a lot of bailing when it started raining early this morning. There wasn't a dry spot in the boat," he said.
"Then it began to get cold, cold and Willis crawled up underneath the bow deck to keep warm," the ship captain reported.
Willis Scogin said a lot of thunder and lightning accompanied the rain.
"But our biggest problem was not being able to get back into harbor," he added.
The retired captain said they were bounced by approximate five-foot seas.
"It's really pathetic the way people passed right by us, but wouldn't stop. One fellow stopped, but said he had to

Municipalities eye NSTL waste treatment system

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A revolutionary new sewerage treatment system developed by the National Space Technology Laboratories' Earth Resources Laboratory is gaining the attention of Louisiana and Mississippi municipal leaders.
The system is also designed to regenerate sewerage into food, air and potable water for future National Aeronautics and Space Administration space stations.
Vascular aquatic plants are combined with anaerobic filters in this system to purify residential or industrial wastes.
Dr. Bill C. Wolverton, NSTL earth resources director and NSTL environmental officer, recently said effluent from the new system surpasses 1983 federal clean water standards.
The Biloxi Chamber of Commerce is suggesting the NSTL-designed system be used to treat the city's wastes rather than a conventional system proposed by the Mississippi Coast Regional Wastewater Authority.

Wolverton reported the cities of Menden and Talulah, La. will be installing the NSTL designed systems for municipal sewerage treatment.
He said compared to present mechanical sewerage treatment systems the NSTL concept costs much less to install and operate.
"This system is very simple and eliminates maintenance work and upkeep," Wolverton stated.

"The only mechanical part of this system is a pumping system to bring sewerage to the treatment facility," he said.
Wolverton explained there is no limit to the size of such a system, but suggests that larger cities establish several small treatment areas to reduce the number of sewerage pumps.
He noted that Biloxi would need

Smackover well tests underway

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Drilling has been completed and testing is underway on Hunt Energy Corp.'s deep well on Bayou LaCrosse Road.
David Hancock, Hunt Energy's geologist in Jackson, Monday said tests are underway to determine the value of the 24,000-foot Smackover test well.
The Crosby No. One well is the deepest ever drilled in Hancock County.
If Hunt has successfully penetrated the Smackover formation production of sulfur-rich natural gas is expected. A separation plant is necessary to extract pharmaceutical-grade sulfur from the gas.

Hunt is also drilling the county's second deep well just off Hwy. 43 near the Catahoula Community.
Hancock said Brown No. One well is at a depth of about 21,600 feet.
Although the Smackover formation is expected at 24,000 feet, Hancock said his company might seek a permit to drill even deeper.

HGH seeking orthopedist

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Medical Staff Credentials Committee is checking the application of an orthopedic surgeon (bone surgeon) interested in locating in Bay St. Louis and operating at Hancock General Hospital.
The trustees of HGH approved expenses for the purchase of necessary equipment and supplies if the new surgeon decides on locating in the area.
The trustees discussed the need of an orthopedic surgeon at its April meeting emphasizing the loss of many patients, especially those involved in accidents, because they have to be transferred to other hospitals because of the lack of the specialist.
Phil Langston, administrator, said if all goes well the new doctor could be in practice within 60-90 days.

The new smoke damper system should be installed within six weeks, Langston told trustees.
The administrator said, "The contractor, Mandel, had come in and disconnected the old smoke dampers and the new ones are on order."
"Garden Park Hospital has the same dampers as the ones ordered and they activate them each week and they work well," he added.
The old smoke damper system was found not to be automatically working in all areas and was reported at a previous trustee meeting.
A Joint Commissions on Accreditation review is hoped for in late June with Langston saying, "We have done everything requested and are now waiting on them."

Necaize gunshot death apparently self-defense

By ELLIS CUEVAS

No arrests have been made following a Sunday afternoon shootout apparently caused by a domestic argument in the Necaize Crossing Community which left one dead and another wounded, according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said, "Deputies A.J. Cuevas and Willie Lee upon arriving at the scene found Samuel B. Jordan, 38, dead with a 12-gauge shotgun wound to his chest and Ernest Saucier, 62, with a 22-caliber wound to his hip."

Peterson stated Tuesday, "Due to the nature of the incident as it involves a death, we will get with the district attorney and present our findings to the Grand Jury in July."

"We believe definitely this is the result of a domestic problem that has been going on for some time," Peterson allowed.

Investigator Delbert Seay who is handling the case reported, "Our investigation at this time indicates that the death was a result of self defense as we feel Jordan shot Saucier before he was shot."

Hancock Coroner Carl Banderet held an inquest on the scene. Banderet said, "Death was the result of gunshot to the right chest, entering the lung. Saucier was taken to the Pearl River County Hospital, Poplarville."

Wednesday Donn Murray said a meeting to discuss the project is scheduled Friday at the Bay St. Louis City Hall between representatives from Waveland, Bay St. Louis, the supervisors and BMR officials.

He said pumping sand is included in the project application. "That application is due in Washington by the end of this month," Murray said.

"It's not so much what we want to do with the money," Murray said. "It's more of what they (the government and BMR) say we can do with the money."

"He said a possibility exists that the money would be taken away if it was allocated and then not used to pump sand into the beach area."

However, Murray said he asked BMR officials if the money could be used exclusively on the beach road if sand was not readily available offshore.

"It would be too expensive to have to truck sand in from someplace else or pump the sand from way offshore," Murray said.

He said the BMR officials said the money could be used only for Beach Road repair work if that was the case.

In other business, the board declared the breakdown of air conditioning units in the courthouse an emergency situation. Chancery Clerk Michael Necaize said the units broke down last Thursday.

go fish and would be right back," he reported.

Scogin noted they carried emergency rations of canned meat which they ate for supper.

BM3 C. John Fannin of Pascagoula and PO Jeff Gehrlein of Pass Christian, both of the Coast Guard, were dispatched at 3:30 a.m. to rescue the stranded men.

Gehrlein said one of the tug boat captains reported a flare sighting to the Coast Guard.

The two launched a Coast Guard aluminum cathedral hull boat powered by two 70 horsepower outboards at Pass Christian and battled four to five foot seas all the way to Heron Bay.

Gehrlein noted, "We hit one five-foot wave that broke over us."

He said the wave drenched he and Fannin and shorted out the boat's running lights and bilge pump.

The Coast Guardsmen reached the disabled boat at 7:50 a.m.

But as they began towing the powerless boat to Pearlinton a violent thunderstorm battered the men with rain, high seas and 40-mile-per-hour winds.

Gehrlein reported, "We had no visibility due to the driving rain and we were riding on five-foot seas."

Dennis Tartavouille, a Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputy, met the men at the Pearlinton marina to assist the Coast Guard.

Both the Slidell men attribute their survival to the rescue by Gehrlein and Fannin.

Hancock board dispells rumors

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday dispelled a rumor which Michael Smith, president of the engineering firm Advanced Development, Inc., said was circulating at the Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach.

Smith told the supervisors at their regular meeting Monday he heard a plan his firm submitted to the BMR now did not meet the approval of the supervisors and would not receive their backing.

Smith had submitted a preapplication for funding of development of a comprehensive drainage plan for the southern region of Hancock County.

The preapplication calls for 20 percent matching funds from the county and Bay St. Louis.

That drainage preapplication was accepted by the BMR and Smith expects to receive $33,696 of Coastal Energy Impact Funds along with $6,424 in matching funds to complete the study.

Still pending is approval from the federal government before the money can be allocated.

Smith told the board he had heard that Donn Murray, county building official and employee of County Engineer Larry Seal who is also partner in the Picayune engineering firm of Broadway and Seal, had told members of the BMR staff the drainage study would not be approved by the supervisors.

Smith told the board that members of Gulf Regional Planning had also informed BMR officials the supervisors would not back the plan.

Smith said after Monday's meeting the funding approval would be withdrawn if the county refused to back the plan and pay the 20 percent matching funds.

"They (BMR) called me and said they were considering throwing out the plan because the supervisors were not going to back it," Smith said.

During the meeting Smith said, "I want to know if the board is going to go along with the plan. I don't want to have another misunderstanding like we had before."

A Smith plan to fund paying Texas Flat Road with CEIP funds was recently tabled by the supervisors in favor of using those funds to support a Murray plan to renovate a portion of the washed-out Beach Road in Waveland.

Board members agreed they had no intention of backing out of the drainage plan agreement.

Board member James Travirca said, "I think we should go along with the plan."

Board member Bert Courregge agreed, stating, "We need a good drainage plan for the county and we should follow through."

Board Attorney Walter Gex told Smith the board had never considered not following through with the plan and dispelled Smith's doubts about the project.

Donn Murray entered the meeting room shortly after Smith left.

He denied ever having told the bureau or anybody that the supervisors would not consider following through with the plan.

"We had a special meeting with the BMR people and they told us not to spend any CEIP money now until a program is approved by the federal government," he said.

During the conversation with Smith, board member Sam Perniciaro spoke of an article in the Sea Coast Echo in which Donn Murray is quoted as saying at a Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting his son Ron Murray is seeking more funding for the Beach Road project.

"If Ron Murray is applying for more funds for the Beach Road, he has never been authorized to do so by this board," Perniciaro said.

Ron Murray, later said, he knew where some funding might be available, but he has not yet submitted any applications.

A plan for repairing the Beach Road was submitted by Broadway and Seal to the BMR several months ago.

The BMR approved that plan and $260,000 of CEIP money for the project. The engineers will now have to submit an environmental impact statement to the federal government and also a plan showing how the money will be used before the federal government will allocate the money for the project to begin.

Questions about the beach road project were discussed after the meeting.

Perniciaro and Gex agreed that no firm has been authorized by the board to engineer the project if the federal government approves.

Perniciaro mentioned the same article concerning Murray's conversation with the Waveland aldermen. Murray at that time agreed with Waveland Mayor John Longo that pumping sand into the beach area from further offshore would be the number one priority.

"If you spend that $260,000 on pumping sand into the beach area then you would just be wasting the money," Perniciaro said.

He said the pumping project would consume most of the money and not leave any for the repairs to the road itself.

Perniciaro said the board will have to get together with the Waveland aldermen the Bay St. Louis city council members to determine what repairs the money will be spent on.

After the meeting the remaining board members and Gex agreed that an administrator for the funds has not yet been approved.

What portion the county and cities will pay of the 20 percent matching funds has also not been determined.

Bay school board does nothing after three-hour closed session

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees met with administrators Tuesday night behind closed doors for more than three hours.

Although Robert Magee, Bay Senior High School principal, requested an executive session to deliberate administrator's salaries, other school matters were also discussed.

No official board action was taken during or after the lengthy closed session.

The board last week approved a five percent salary increase for all administrators even though an average eight percent increase was requested by J.D. McCullough, superintendent of education.

The Tuesday meeting began at 7:45 p.m.

Magee thanked the board for allowing him to address the group and promptly requested an executive session.

Trustee Maurice Singleton asked Magee, "Does this have something to do with personalities or is this about an individual?"

Walter Turcotte, board president, told Singleton Magee did not have to state reasons for requesting an executive session.

Trustee James Ginn agreed with Turcotte and offered the motion for the secret session banning the press and public.

All administrators and employees left the meeting except for Magee and McCullough, but later during the session administrators drifted back into the meeting.

All board members were present along with Magee, McCullough, Bay Junior High School Principal W.J. Cameron, Waveland Elementary School Principal James Baldree, Assistant Junior High Principal Mike Cave, Senior High School Assistant Principal Frank Ladner, North Bay Elementary School Principal Rogers James, and Assistant Superintendent Donald Caldwell. Later during the evening Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour joined the closed meeting.

Teachers Judy Barrett and Cathy Carter, District Secretary-Bookkeeper Dominica Favre and the news media were excluded from the meeting.

Brisk arguments and nervous laughter periodically erupted from the meeting with Magee apparently leading the administrators' cause.

In response to requests for higher pay increases, Ginn noted that comparable administrator salaries in other Mississippi school districts were lower.

Administrators requested a 'responsibility' factor be considered in pay scales.

Last week the board ignored McCullough's pay proposal which included a responsibility consideration.

Another administrator noted that teachers with doctorate degrees earn more than $19,000.

Later in the meeting disturbances at recent high school graduation ceremonies were discussed.

An administrator also said student education had improved over the last few years.

At 10:25 p.m. the meeting recessed briefly, then all administrators except McCullough were excluded from the closing minutes of the secret session.

Turcotte noted after the executive session that no action was taken and requested a motion to adjourn.

foot well to the Washita-Fredricksburg Formation in the Ansley Field.

Company officials recently filed a petition with the State Oil and Gas Board to integrate all interests in a 640-acre gas unit consisting of the southeast quarter of Section 24; the northeast quarter of Section 30, Township Nine South, Range 16 West; and Township Nine South, Range 15 West.

Theresa Moody, board hearings administrator, recently said a petition to integrate was presented because some two percent of the mineral owners have not leased their property.

Those not leasing are reimbursed for their share of mineral rights after drilling costs are recovered.

Company officials Monday in Lafayette said no drilling date has been set.

The proposed well will be named International Paper Co. Well No. 1.

HWY. 603 TEST

A Mooringport test well located along side Hwy. 603 just north of the I-10 interchange has tested negative so far. The well is named Cinque Bambini No. 1-A well.

Harry Spooner, Spooner Petroleum Co. general partner, Monday in Jackson said, "Initial tests look negative, but we're going to perforate at another depth and test again in about two weeks."

Spooner has requested the well be classified under the Natural Gas Protection Act, but said the action is a formality in case marketable natural gas is discovered.

The act sets a price for marketing natural gas.

BAYOU PHILLIPS' WELL UNDERWAY

Marshall R. Young Oil Co. is directionally drilling toward the Mooringport Gas Pool. The well is located near Bayou Phillips.

The Oil and Gas Board recently approved integration of a mineral rights for the well named Brignac Jr. 30-7, Well No. Two.

Moody said the directional drilling request was also recently approved due to topography.

The directional drilling is expected to reach a point "being an exception" a minimum distance of 900 feet from the south line and a minimum distance of 900 feet from the west line of a 640-acre unit consisting of lands in Section 30 and Pierre Carco Claim 23 and Joseph Favre Claim 31, Township Eight South, Range 14 West.

The oil company has offices in Bay St. Louis.

KILN WELL

Vega Oil and Gas Management, Inc. recently completed drilling its gas well west of Kiln.

The approximate 11,500-foot deep well was drilled to the Dorward Gas Pool of the Paluxy Formation.

Vega is requesting the well be classified under the gas act to establish a price for gas production.

The Frederick Estate 19-11 Well No. One is located in Section 19, Township Seven South, Range 14 West.

Location of a Vega office is not known.

ALLOWABLES SET

The Oil and Gas Board recently established the maximum efficient rate of production for gas pools including the Waveland Gas Pool.

The current 'gas allowables' are in effect until Sept. 30, 1981.

Moody explained, "An allowable is a rate of production established for each gas pool so a producer will get optimum production from a well."

She said allowables are established every six months.

PLUGGING REGULATIONS

Oil and gas well plugging regulations were also recently established by the board.

All such wells in Mississippi found to be 'dry' must be properly plugged after 120 days after test operations are completed.

Inactive well status reports must be filed semi-annually with the board by April 25 and Oct. 25.

Operators of wells listed as having 'future utility' will be reviewed by board supervisors periodically at the official's discretion.

Failure to file for inactive status will result in immediate plugging of the well by the state.

All uncased holes must be plugged by filling with mud and cement plugs of not less than 100 feet to protect each protectable pool.

In addition a cement plug must be placed below all fresh water stratas with more plugs to protect all uncased fresh water bearing sands.

A cement plug of not less than 100 feet is required to be placed at the bottom of the surface pipe and a surface plug must be installed which does not interfere with soil cultivation.

Where production casings are pulled a cement or 'bridge plug' must be placed near the bottom of the production string to protect a producible pool.

The hole must be filled with mud up to the point where the production casing is severed.

Also the hole should be filled with mud and a cement plug of not less than 100 feet is required 50 feet below water stratas and cement plugs are specified to protect water bearing sands.

Bottom and top plug requirements are the same as for uncased holes.

RIG PLANT TO OPEN

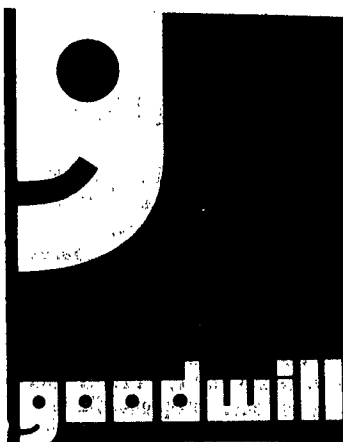

G & S International, on oil land rig design, engineering, and manufacturing company, will conduct an 'open house' Saturday, May 30 for its newest plant at the Poplarville Industrial Park.

Company spokesman John Tuccio says, "The facility occupies 20 acres with 50,000 square feet under roof for its operations. It will primarily function as the fabrication site for oil land rigs designed and engineered at G & S's corporate office in Houston, Tex."

"Currently, G & S employs 127 persons at the Poplarville plant, but this is projected to reach 250 in the near future," he reports.

"Portions of a substructure and mast over 175 feet high, manufactured by the company, will be on exhibit for this occasion. Visitors will also have an opportunity to tour the plant and examine a variety of modern manufacturing equipment," Tuccio states.

"The 'open house' will be from 12 noon until 6 p.m. The press and general public are invited to attend," he adds.

Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet is still wondering why the Picayune Ambulance Service did not respond to an accident Saturday morning at the Hancock-Pearl River County Line.

Banderet feels the seven miles from Picayune to the scene is a lot closer than the 30 miles from Bay St. Louis for the ambulance service to respond. We have to agree with the coroner because we, too, think it is very important to get medical aid to persons, especially when there are serious injuries, as fast as possible, no matter where from.

The ironic fact, of course, is that the persons involved were from Pearl River County.

Banderet is still baffled as to why it took the Picayune Police Department so long to notify the funeral home to come pick-up the body of a victim of the accident.

We know we have some problems in Hancock County, but, do not think they are as serious as they seem to be over Pearl River way.

It is good to see more people concerned with the beautification of Hancock County. We hope everyone will get into the act, especially with summer very near.

A little help by everyone can go a very long way. A good start is for everyone to clean-up their yards and roadsides in front of their properties.

We know Warren Carver, beautification committee chairman for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, is working hard on this project.

So let us all 'pitch-in' to help.

Harmon Turan, owner of Turan-Lane Chevrolet, was a special guest last Saturday at the launching of the WW II

Ticonderoga Combat Missile Launch Ship which will be used to protect America's aircraft carriers.

Turan was a seaman on the WWII Ticonderoga from September 1944 through the end of the war in the Lookout Division. He operated 20 and 40 MM anti-aircraft guns and was one of only a few Coast residents assigned to the ship.

We think it was an honor for him to be invited to the christening of the new ship by First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Nelius Favre is back in the hospital. Wednesday his son Eddie reported his father has used over 30 units of blood in a seven day period.

Nelius is in Oschner's in New Orleans and if some of you are in the city, we know he and his family would really appreciate some blood donations.

He has had some internal bleeding and that is the reason so much blood is being used. We wish Nelius well and hope he makes a quick recovery.

Graduation Exercises are in progress and some have already been completed.

This is the time of year to wish the best to all graduates, those from kindergarten through doctorates.

As a matter of fact, I have a graduate in my family this year as my brother Clemence's oldest daughter Rosemary will receive her diploma on June 10 in North Carolina.

We know all of the students have worked hard, and wish them well in the coming years. If you plan to further your education, good luck.

Those of you entering the world of work, we wish you success in your field.

COUNTY GROWN MARIJUANA—Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, center, surveys some 120 live marijuana plants confiscated in the Lakeshore area by Hancock investigators Alvin Ladner, right, and Delbert Seay. Peterson said the plants were 'staked out' for some time. The sheriff's office received a tip on the plants and we wish to thank the good citizen for calling police. The number of drug arrests are on the increase in Hancock County. We urge all good citizens to notify the authorities whenever they encounter something out of the ordinary, especially if they suspect drugs are involved. The growing season on marijuana is now, according to Sheriff Peterson, and his investigators are spending a lot of time in the 'woods' and we hope everyone will aid whenever possible.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

We are trying to get more local slant for our ads and wonder if it would be worth the effort and, if so, how to accomplish it. Ready To Change.

Dear RTC: Localizing ads is certainly worth the effort if it is done well and in an effective manner.

So the answer to one part of your question will be conditioned by the answer to the other.

But, localizing almost always produces better results if it doesn't entirely depend on the local angle.

Your approach will depend on the product or service being offered, so let's look at some examples.

If the product is paint you might use local house painters who use your brand for testimonials. (Be sure to get their written permission.)

Photos and copy could stress them and why they use the particular brand, but also include supporting data as supplied by the manufacturer.

Another approach would be to show the results of the use of paint in areas locales that will be recognizable. If possible show them after a period of time to show permanence.

On the other hand if you are opting for the do-it-yourself market illustrate with a local do-it-yourselfer in the process of using the paint.

Rarely is an exterior, or for that matter, interior of your store of much value. The exception would be should you want to show great variety, inventory, or whatever the thrust of the particular ad may be.

This kind of promotion will cost you more, for you will have the additional cost of photos and possibly, ad copy writing, in addition to the space charges.

But the results should be increased by a significant amount—far more than the increase in costs.

Don't be afraid to try it yourself. With a good camera and a little patience you should, with help from your local newspaper ad representative, get creditable results.

One tip, do a series of ads rather than one at a time. This way you'll spend less time and, furthermore, will be more likely to have a thread of consistency between the ads.

PTO president commends merchants for assistance with school fair

13 May 1981
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Waveland Elementary Parent Teachers Organization, I would like to thank all of the merchants in our area who donated items to the Spring Festival held at our school on April 24, 1981. Their generous donations helped to make our celebration a huge success. All the profits from the Fair are going to be used by the PTO for the benefit of the Waveland School children.

As outgoing president of this PTO, it has been my pleasure to work with a very cooperative group.

Mr. James Baldree, principal, and all the teachers at the school are top-notch, dedicated people who put the children's welfare first.

The parents who have worked with the PTO on a volunteer basis have displayed a school spirit that couldn't be purchased for a million dollars. Their team work, for the benefit of the children, is something for them to be very proud of and I hope it will continue as long as the school is in existence.

Let me encourage any new parent at the school to take an active part in the PTO work. It can be very gratifying for you and your children, and you'll find that Waveland Elementary is a school that you can be very proud of.

Thanks again for your help,

Veterans official asks Lott to guard against cuts in VA hospital service

May 13, 1981
Congressman Trent Lott
2400 Rayburn Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Trent:

I write you this letter with a heavy heart. It disturbs me to read and hear that the President is pressing Congress to cut $831 million from the VA budget for the fiscal year 1982.

Also, it disturbs me very much to know that our own Senator Cochran voted against more money for the VA.

In the President's address to the 81st VFW National Convention he pledged his support to the veterans, now he seems to be crawling. Our VA Hospitals are suffering from a shortage of personnel.

Now OMB plans to cut $1.1 billion from the VA budget and 9,832 personnel for the remainder of FY 1981 and 1982. This loss will include 300 physicians and 1,000 nurses. Veterans are having a hard time now receiving treatment because of a shortage of personnel.

Continuance of this non-sense will probably eventually result in the closing of our VA facilities altogether to non-service connected veterans.

Non-service connected veterans that cannot defray the cost of a private physician should be afforded the opportunity to use VA facilities. Our non-service veterans fought to preserve our country's freedom.

On behalf of all the veterans of Hancock County I call upon you and request that you do everything in your power to support our VA Hospitals and to protect the veterans rights and benefits.

You have done so in the past and I feel certain that you will continue your support to the veteran and his dependents.

We must support our living veterans and his survivors. If OMB is so dead set in thinking of every means to save manpower why doesn't it be considered, to do away with the tradition of maintaining the vigilance over the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery.

No doubt several thousands of dollars can be saved in personnel cuts. This savings could be used to support our living veterans.

Thank you kindly for your outstanding support and with best wishes, I am,

Respectfully yours,
MIKE LADNER

Dear Mr. Moseley:

It has been brought to my attention that there is a need for anti-litter signs in Hancock County - with special emphasis being placed in the area of Lakeshore Road.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee has been meeting regularly to formulate plans to help clean up our community.

We are trying to involve public officials, businesses, organizations, and private individuals in our campaign.

Please let me know if it is possible to obtain signs concerning anti-littering and if you will place them in the Lakeshore Road area.

The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

Hundreds of telephone calls were made by the writer of this letter before the April 11 deadline to register to vote. My calls were welcomed by so many concerned citizens that they made sure their interests would count on election day.

After April 11, again hundreds of calls were made by me in Ward Two reminding everyone of the voting date and location. Again my calls were welcomed by all.

It was very gratifying and I was made to feel that all of this precious time was very worthwhile and definitely an asset to our town.

It seems that all of these concerned citizens spread their interests to others which also helped to cause a heavy turnout at the polls for the Democratic Primary.

Thank you sincerely for your kindness and politeness.

The cost of picking up litter scattered along the streets and in the ditches of our communities is four and one-half times greater than if that same litter were placed in trash receptacles and picked up by a sanitation truck. That additional cost is being paid for by the already overburdened taxpayer.

PLANT ROOTS—A relatively extensive root network develops in a young reed plant in a National Space Technology Laboratories greenhouse exhibited by Dr. Bill Wolverton, NSTL Earth Resources Laboratory director and environmental officer. REED SYSTEM—Dr. Bill Wolverton, National Space Technology Laboratories Earth Resources Laboratory director and environmental officer, inspects a working model of a wastewater treatment system using anaerobic microorganisms and reeds in an NSTL greenhouse. Two Louisiana cities are planning to use the system for wastewater treatment. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

approximately 40 acres, to treat its wastes.

"Some 10,000 people will produce about one million gallons of sewerage per day. Some 20 acres are needed to treat 3.5 million gallons per day, so Biloxi would need roughly twice that amount of land for this system," Wolverton explained further.

Developmental research at NSTL for the past 10 years created the water purification system.

The system operates by growing vascular aquatic plants such as water hyacinths, cattails or duckweeds or terrestrial plants including cherry tomatoes or grain sorghum in pea gravel above two layers of rocks progressively larger.

The larger rocks toward the bottom of the system facilitate fluid flow.

Sewerage is pumped into one side of the bottom rock layer after passing through an anaerobic rock filter which contains waste-eating microorganisms coated on rocks.

Proposed space station systems will use lightweight plastic rock filters.

The plants will convert carbon dioxide exhaled by humans into oxygen, grow vegetables and produce potable water by absorbing converted wastes as a hydroponic fertilizer.

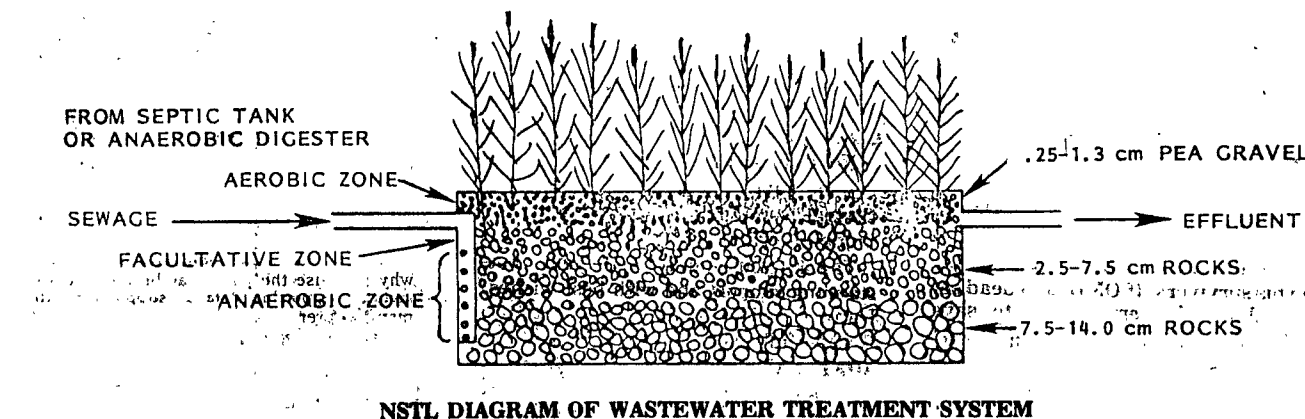

Wolverton said anaerobic microorganisms grow without oxygen, but convert sewerage into carbon dioxide, methane and simple organics which fertilize the vascular plants growing above.

The earth resources director reported that aerobic (air growing) microorganisms are now used in existing sewerage treatment systems, but sometimes create an odor. The rock layers contain the anaerobic gases.

He noted that the vascular plants in industrial treatment systems would have to be harvested and disposed of in Environmental Protection Agency approved chemical landfills because the plants would absorb any "heavy metal" waste.

But in domestic waste treatment all pollutants are apparently harmlessly absorbed by the plants.

Wolverton stated, "This hybrid system creates a synergistic effect to increase the treatment efficiency of each individual system."

He reported that the most successful vascular plant used is a common reed (pragmites communis) which is a plant found worldwide and grows in a variety of environmental conditions.

Wolverton said Owen and White Engineers of Baton Rouge is designing treatment systems for the two Louisiana cities utilizing the reed plants.

He reported that the purification system can also be added as a secondary or tertiary system to an existing treatment plant.

"This system has a tremendous application value. It takes very little energy to operate and with the anaerobic and plant digestion will be virtually maintenance free," Wolverton said.

"It can be installed in modules. Additional modules can be added in series when required for expansion or advanced wastewater treatment," he added.

Hwy. 603 traffic count shy of two-lane capacity

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The traffic count on Hwy. 603 has increased over 1980 figures, according to information received from Robert W. Moseley, assistant traffic control and safety engineer for the State Highway Department.

Earlier counts indicated that traffic had reduced in 1980 over 1979 which was normal on most state highways. The Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Sheriff Ronald Peterson requested a review of Hwy. 603 by the state in view of the number of fatalities in recent months.

A 1980 report showed south of I-10 a daily traffic count of 3,410 compared with 3,740 in 1979.

A survey taken during May 1981 south of I-10 shows 3,945 and south of Bayou LaCroix on 603 as 4,730.

A count taken in May just north of US-90 on 603 was reported as 4,084 for a 24-hour period.

The count north of I-10 was listed as 3,745.

Local authorities have indicated for years a desire to have the highway made a four-lane artery.

Moseley's letter to the Echo states that the traffic volume does not approach capacity for a two-lane facility.

The highest hourly count was taken between 3 and 4 p.m. with 416 vehicles at the south of Bayou LaCroix position.

Moseley's letter to the Echo follows:

May 14, 1981
Mr. Ellis C. Cuevas
Editor and Publisher
The Sea Coast Echo
Post Office Box 230
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

Reference is made to your request that we make an up-to-date 24-hour count on Miss. 603 between U.S. 90 and I-10 to determine if the traffic volumes have increased on this section of roadway.

As the attached copy of recent turning movement counts indicates, the traffic volumes have increased over the 1980 counts. Reviewing the traffic data, there is no hour at any of the four locations where the traffic volumes would even approach capacity for a 2-lane facility.

If you have any questions regarding this information, please feel free to call upon us.

Sincerely,
Robert W. Moseley
Assistant Traffic Control & Safety Engineer

Sheriff seeks sugar

By BRENT MACEY

"Twenty years ago this might have been a catastrophe. At that time Kiln was the moonshine capital of the world," Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said with a smile Wednesday.

The sheriff was referring to some 43,554 pounds of sugar believed to have been embezzled by the driver of an 18 wheel tractor trailer truck and disposed of between the Kiln area and Louisiana.

Sheriff's department investigators are currently looking for the truck driver, employed by Dixey Transport Inc. of Hattiesburg, and the sugar.

The sugar is valued at $14,600 wholesale or $50,000 retail.

A warrant for the arrest of a truck driver was served at the sheriff's office Wednesday after company officials who signed an affidavit for their employee's arrest.

Peterson said the sheriff's department received a number of calls early Wednesday morning from Kiln residents who said a man was attempting to sell sugar in that area.

An investigation by the department Wednesday led to the discovery of an 18 wheel tractor trailer, abandoned on private property in Kiln.

Peterson said the land owner of that property stated the driver asked if he could park the tractor trailer on property in Kiln.

"The driver told the man he would return Tuesday night at 5 p.m. to claim the truck. The driver never came back," the sheriff said.

The tractor trailer was towed to Bay St. Louis and the license number traced to a trucking company, People's Choice Auto Body Inc., of Newark, New Jersey.

The sheriff noted that the back window of the cab had been broken and the truck had been "hot wired."

The Newark company contacted a subcontracting trucking firm, Dixey Transport Inc., who in turn notified the sheriff's department that the truck driver had not contacted their office since May 11.

Peterson said the truck was searched after being towed to Bay St. Louis and no sugar was discovered.

"We couldn't even find a pound," the sheriff said.

According to Peterson, Dixey officials stated the tractor trailer was dispatched from their headquarters in Hattiesburg and scheduled to pick up a load of sugar in Louisiana.

The officials told the sheriff delivery in Mobile was anticipated by May 11 or 12.

"At this point we are not sure if it is the original driver we are looking for," Peterson said.

He stated a possibility exists another person stole the truck because of the broken window and the hot wiring.

SUPPORTING HUMANE SOCIETY—Mari Dobson, left, of Waveland, president of the Hancock Welcome Wagon Club, presents a $500 check to Lillie Beckland, president of the Bay Waveland Humane Society at a recent club luncheon at the Paddles Restaurant in Clermont Harbor. The club raised the funds to help support the society's spay/neuter program through a rummage sale and other activities. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

THRILL OF VICTORY—Jim Thriffley and his wife and campaign manager Jean Ann are all smiles at Bay St. Louis City Hall when results were announced giving Thriffley a clear victory in a three-man field for the Democratic nomination for councilman from Ward Two. With no opposition in the forthcoming general election June 2, Thriffley is returned to the council where he has served for the past four years. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Mike Hallford, controller reported collections improving and said that all insurance claims on in and out patients were up to date.

Dr. Joseph Lee, trustee and staff doctor, submitted a revised Medical By-Laws to the board which was accepted and approved.

Dr. Lee also reported an improvement in the EKG system with Dr. W. H. Hill reading them and also the setting up of a file to be kept in the hospital.

"The file copy at the hospital is very important when a patient comes in over the weekends for comparisons," Dr. Lee stated.

The hospital used to have EKG's read by computer in Atlanta and reviewed in Hattiesburg by a team of doctors.

Langston reported good support for the hospital staff's two fund-raising ventures.

A little over $1,000 was raised by the two events and an appreciation was expressed to everyone by the administrator.

At the Buck or Two Beauty Review Langston said indications were made by several persons about maybe wanting to donate funds to re-do a room.

Letters are being sent to several organizations the administrator reported.

The cost for the installation of drapes, wall papering, new base boards and trim touch-up amounts to $350 for private and $475 for semi-private rooms, Langston added.

Board Attorney Robert Genin said the donations would be tax deductible.

Plaques will be placed on each door to indicate the person or organization making the donation.

Langston also reported being contacted by representatives from the Gulf Regional Planning Commission on the up-grading of parking facilities at HGH.

The trustees are seeking help from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors who have contacted Gulf Regional.

Wilkerson 286-180 and will be sworn into office in July as he is unopposed in the June 2 General Election.

Seuzeneau will join Councilmen Gary Eugene Taylor, Ward One; James C. Thriffley, Ward Two and Councilman-at-Large Wilmer Seymour.

Democratic nominee Harry Farve faces two Independents in the general election, Herta M. Smith and Thomas P. Clarke.

Incumbent Mayor Larry Bennett, who defeated Victor J. Frankiewicz Jr. in the Democratic Primary by 29 votes, faces Republican Joseph S.

Buccola in the General Election. Eddie Favre, city clerk, reports his office will be open until noon on Saturdays, May 23 and 30 for absentee voting in the General Election.

Favre said, "Qualified absentee voters must vote in person before noon on May 30 and mail ballots must be received by noon on June 1 for the June 2 election."

The Democratic Committee certifying Tuesday's results on Wednesday is composed of Pat Murphy Sr., C.C. McDonald Jr., and George E. Stevenson.

Little Theatre to go 'Barefoot in The Park'

Join in the trials and tribulations of Corie and Paul Bratter, Neil Simon's newlywed couple in Barefoot in The Park, a three act comedy to be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 28 - 30 at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue.

Curtain time for this hilarious comedy is 8:15 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

Barefoot In The Park tells the story of a young couple emerging from a six-day honeymoon to face the harsh realities of conjugal bliss in a less than ideal apartment in New York City.

Claudia Murphy stars as the fun-loving young wife who has just discovered that her husband is an old fuddy-duddy.

Jim Holmes plays the much maligned husband, who lacks that certain spirit of adventure his wife so ardently desires in a husband.

The Bratters have little time to themselves because Alice Holmes, playing Corie's mother, drops in for a visit.

Worried about her mother's lifestyle, Corie vows to add excitement to her mother's life.

Her golden opportunity arrives in the guise of the upstairs neighbor, Victor Velasco, portrayed by, Ed Ling.

His debonair attitude about life will surely add the necessary spice.

Loren Hoover as a telephone repairman, and John Holmes as a delivery man, contribute to the confusion in the Bratter household, as the couple that honeymooned together must now learn to live together.

Production staff for the comedy includes Sherry Sch-wabacher, Mary Carter, Louis Schwabacher, Linda Dorian, Richard Taylor, Ted Holmes, and Bill Sanders.

Wildlife Department schedules meeting, reports hunting, fishing license change

Statewide hunting regulations for the 1981-82 hunting period and the upcoming shrimp season will top the agenda of a public meeting scheduled by the Department of Wildlife Conservation on Friday, May 22.

The agency's five-member board will meet at 9 a.m. in the Board of Supervisor's Meeting Room in the Harrison County Courthouse in Biloxi to hear recommendations from the department's biologists and technical personnel for certain season opening and closing dates and bag limits for the approaching hunting seasons.

The commission will also consider the oral and written comments and petitions presented at three public hearings recently conducted by the department around the state in early May, before making a final decision on dates and bag limits.

Commission members are expected to take action on a request made to them by certain crab fishermen along the Gulf Coast to relax restrictions on taking crabs in the egg-bearing, or "berry stage."

Also on the agenda is a proposal submitted to the Department by the International Paper Company to establish a permit fee system for hunters using certain company owned lands leased to the department within the Red Creek Wildlife Management Area.

Numerous items are on the agenda. Hunters, fishermen, boaters and others who wish to appear before the commission should contact the department's Jackson office and be placed on the agenda.

LICENSES CHANGE

The next time Mississippi hunters and fishermen buy licenses, there will be an important change waiting for them.

Beginning July 1, 1981, all hunting and fishing licenses issued by the state Department of Wildlife Conservation will expire on the following June 30, according to agency officials. Currently all licenses expire one year from the date of purchase. The license fees will remain unchanged from last year.

"In the past our licenses and permits have expired one year from the time the hunter or fisherman purchased the license," business manager Carolyn Briscoe said. "But this has presented some problems for our law enforcement personnel, and we hope our system of issuing licenses will remedy this."

Briscoe explained that in the past some licenses were not properly filled out by the license agents. "Occasionally some agents would not fill-in the expiration date. So when the license holder was checked in the field by a conservation officer, the officer would not know if the license was valid, and how long the person might have had that one license."

According to Briscoe changing the license so that they expire on June 30, will prevent anyone from holding a license and using it for more than a 12-month period.

Currently the Department of Wildlife Conservation issues some 600,000 licenses for various types of hunting and fishing, which brings some $6 million in revenues into the agency.

Jim Kane, head soccer coach at Northeast Louisiana University will serve as head coach of the camp while Lou Marciani will coordinate the camps.

OUT OF THE DEEP—This monster appeared on the sand beach of Waveland a little before midnight Saturday. Sally Erickson, Nicholson Avenue resident, stated she was at a beach party and some beach walkers came up to report seeing a large fish near the shore, but they did not have a light. The fish was still alive when viewed with a Coleman lantern. It has been unofficially identified as a sea perch and weighed around 500 pounds. Waveland Police Officer Barry Richardson reported police were called about the fish at 11:55 p.m. Louis Kenmore was one of several persons to view the fish in the early hours. The fish died and was later buried by City Superintendent Herman Yarborough. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

PRC SIGNS ZACH—Zachery Ladner, 6'5" forward the the Hancock North Central Hawks, has signed a scholarship to play for the Pearl River College Wildcats. Ladner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Ladner, received the Hawks' Best Rebounder Award at a recent HNC awards banquet. During the year he made all-tournament at Gulfport and Harrison Central. Under coach Roland Ladner, Zachery averaged 16 points per game and seven rebounds. He had to sit out about half of the games this past season because of a dislocated shoulder. "Zachery has a lot of potential," said Ladner. "He had outstanding sophomore and junior years before the injury this past season." Billy Holmes, left, the head coach of the PRC Wildcats, said Ladner would be able to help the "Cats as a freshman. Donald Wayne Ladner, right, witnesses the contract signing. (PRC photo)

Elementary, high school basketball camps slated

The University of Southern Mississippi All-American Basketball Camp will be June 15-19 for grades nine and below and June 29-July 3 for 10-12 graders.

Emphasis will be placed on sound basketball fundamentals: offensive and defensive strategy, individual competition, official nightly games, lectures and highlight films.

USM Head Basketball coach M.K. Turk will direct the sessions with assistant coach Mike Jones, Greg Lackey and Robert McInnis — the same coaching staff which led the Golden Eagles to a 20-7 winning season and the NIT game against Holy Cross.

The camp is sanctioned by the Miss. High School Activities Association and the Miss. Private School Activities Association.

Registration will be held Monday June 15 and June 29 from 9 - 11 a.m. in the USM Reed Green Coliseum. The camp is limited to the first 125

NAIL-IN ... As an object 1/4" in diameter or less passes through the tire tread and sealant, it becomes coated with sealant which sticks tightly to it.

NAIL OUT ... When the puncturing object is removed from the tire, the sealant is pulled into the hole in the tread.

RESULT ... The sealant fills the hole, keeping the tire from going flat though there may be a slight loss of air as the object is pulled out.

Cuevas' Little Crash takes Oak Downs event

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo) PEARL RIVER, La.—Little Crash, owned and trained by Delbert (Cotton) Cuevas of Bay St. Louis, won the three-furlong second race Sunday at Oak Downs.

Little Crash was ridden by Larry (The Crash) Warner, who picked up his nickname by wearing a motorcycle crash helmet while working out horses.

Although winning, Little Crash posted less than a crashing time of :39.95.

The day's 17-race program got started in a little unusual way.

As the horses were being loaded into the starting gate for the five-furlong race, two of the horses got loose and had to be chased down.

Despite an unscheduled jaunt around the track without a rider, Frenchtown showed no bad effects as he turned back four challengers.

But Jody, who also got loose, did not fare as well, finishing third. However, Jody led much of the way before tiring.

Frenchtown, owned and trained by Dub Northrup of Harrison County was clocked in a brisk 1:06.89.

The three-furlong fourth race featured three horses that ran against each other the previous week when Ethanol Jr. nipped Damned If I Know by a nose and Sweet Georgia Faye was third.

While Damned If I Know finished second again, it was Sweet Georgia Faye claiming first with Ethanol Jr. a distant third.

Sweet Georgia Faye claiming first with Ethanol Jr. a distant third.

Sweet Georgia Faye, owned by Faye Davis of Ashburn, Ga., and trained by Floyd Pitzer of Tickfaw, posted a time of :37.81.

In the 400-yard seventh, it was an all-female combo visiting the winner's circle as J.R., owned and trained by Sandra Norman of Pass Christian and ridden by Suzanne Alexander of Piquette, outdistanced Cupid's Model and Miss Patsy Joy.

The best time of the day for the popular 350-yard distance was posted by Omega Diana in the 11th race. Owned by V.L. Thomas of Bogalusa and trained by John Paul Amacker of Poplarville, Omega Diane was clocked in Class AAA time of :18.29 in beating Jay's Bumper and Oh Gallant Lady.

Randy Crowe of Pearl River visited the winner's circle for the second straight week as his Budweiser won the three-furlong 15th against Angela's Palace.

Dropped bats by jockeys could have made the difference in winning and losing in two of Sunday's races. Ray Robbins lost his whip two jumps out of the starting gate aboard Ultra Royal in the 440-yard fifth, and lost to Cathy Johnson's Eagle's Folly Lady by a half a length.

Leo Fricke, who had posted five wins during the afternoon, lost his whip also in the 17th aboard Two Bar Jr., who lost to April's Injun by a head.

Eight different jockeys won races on the 17-race program. Trailing Fricke's five wins were JoAnn Boatwright with three, and Suzanne Alexander, Jeff Peterman and Curtis "Shorty" Ambrose with two each.

PRC awards 400 degrees

Pearl River Junior College graduated its largest class in history on the Poplarville campus Sunday as 400 students received associate degrees and certificates of proficiency before a capacity crowd of 3,000 persons.

The formal service was the 71st annual commencement for Pearl River College and it marked the end of the 1980-81 school year.

Thad Cochran, United States senator from Mississippi, challenged the PRC graduates to "stay involved and to use the training and skills received at Pearl River not for just selfish reasons but to help others and to help our country move along in the right direction."

Senator Cochran said our government "invites participation to share ideas and opinions. I challenge you to become involved and participate in the citizenship process."

Some 197 graduates received associate degrees and 203 students received certificates of proficiency. Thirty-four academic students earned honors and 17 received special honor recognition. Career graduates included 49 students and 20 special honor graduates.

Senator Cochran said, while addressing the maroon robed graduates, and all of the faculty members which were also robed and seated in front of the graduating class, "There's still a place for individual effort to correct the many problems which face our society. Remember we all have a responsibility to ourselves and our country to make sure the future will be a little better for those who follow."

According to Cochran the PRC commencement should be viewed as a real celebration. "It's an achievement for the entire family," the Senator said. "This is a unique opportunity for us to stop and think about the opportunities which lie ahead and the challenges and responsibilities which are yours because of the background and training which you have acquired here at Pearl River Junior College."

Senator Cochran told the graduates they could expect a fuller life because of the experience and work which has gone on here at PRC. "Our opportunities are so much greater here in Mississippi and the nation and I encourage you to now do your part in making sure the system works better for everyone."

Presentation and roll call of associate degree graduates was done by Enoch Seal Jr., academic dean. The presentation and roll call of the career graduates was made by Dr. James Soren Jr., vocational-technical coordinator.

Presentation of diplomas and certificates of proficiency was made by Dr. Marvin R. White, Pearl River College president.

Dr. Rebecca Ann Askew, Hal Sterling, Craig Bridgers, and Lee Lowe handled the processional. Dr. Robert Barnes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Poplarville gave the invocation and the benediction was given by Herbert Ray Nobles, superintendent of the Petal Separate School District.

Not only was this the largest graduating class ever at PRC, but it was also the first time the graduates have donned maroon robes, the school color. In the past the graduates have worn blue graduating gowns.

This is also the first time PRC's faculty members have worn gowns and participated formally in the commencement.

"We have had an exceptional year and the commencement was indicative of the many accomplishments this graduating class has achieved. I will always have fond memories of this graduating class and school year," Dr. White said.

Trustees approve state college tuition increases

The Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning has approved tuition increases for the eight state-supported institutions of higher learning for the 1981-82 term.

Board president Miriam Q. Simmons of Columbia said tuition increases are necessary to meet expenses after state-appropriated funds for fiscal year 1981-82 were allocated.

She said, "We were pleased with the funds appropriated by the Legislature for higher education Mississippi, especially in this tight-money year. However, inflation has added to the costs of operating the universities and a tuition increase was approved to help meet additional needed funding."

Mississippi State University at Starkville will increase its tuition and fees per student per year by $100 to $1,030 for 1981-82 (an increase from $930 last year).

The University of Mississippi at Oxford will also increase its fees by $100 to $1,056 from a previous fee of $956.

The University of Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg will charge students $90 more for a total of $916 from last year's fees of $826.

Jackson State University at Jackson will raise its tuition and fees $82 to $832 from $750 for last year.

Alcorn State University at Lorman will charge students $80 for fiscal year 1981-82, a $32 increase from $768.

Delta State University at Cleveland will charge $770 tuition and fees next year, a $50 increase from $720.

Brain development theory under study

The manner in which children are able to learn is being reevaluated in some quarters these days with the introduction of a new theory on brain development.

Herman Epstein, a Brandeis University biophysicist, believes that the human brain undergoes most of its growth in two-year spurts, not through continual growth as has long been the belief. Epstein bases his assumption on studies of both human and dead brains.

That concept has now been translated into theories on how a youngster learns by Conrad F. Toepfer Jr., associate professor of middle school education, University of Georgia.

"Up to this time, the process of schooling has been organized on the assumption that the human brain grows on some sort of continuum, and that the task of education is to challenge the learner," says Toepfer. "Although regarded as fact, no data exist to support the reality of this assumed brain growth."

According to the new theory, the brain develops in spurts between the ages of 2 to 4, 6 to 8, 10 to 12, and 14 to 16 plus years.

During each period the brain grows between five and 10 percent in size in 85 to 90 percent of humans, according to Toepfer.

Just as the brain grows during two-year periods, there are two-year plateaus where no significant growth is found.

These plateaus come between ages 4 to 6, 8 to 10, and 12 to 14 years.

"During these plateau periods, it becomes almost impossible for youngsters to initiate and develop new and higher level thinking skills," contends Toepfer.

What this means for parents and educators is that higher level thinking skills should be taught children during the growth periods and reinforced during the plateaus.

"Learning experiences during the plateau intervals should focus upon helping youngsters to consolidate, refine, and mature the new and higher level thinking skills they initiated during their just completed brain growth spurt," according to Toepfer.

Two early thinking skills are learning to name an item and recall its name. According to this research it would be appropriate to introduce those skills during the two to four year spurt.

Parents and teachers could expand among and reinforce those skills during the following plateau period.

When the next growth spurt comes, between 4 to 6 years, higher level skills such as explaining and discussing, should be introduced.

USM anthropologists study Mexican culture

The Tarahumara Indians of the Sierra Mountains of Chihuahua, Mexico have been living in cave dwellings for the past two thousand years, remaining culturally isolated.

A group of University of Southern Mississippi anthropology students under the direction of Dr. Shan Winn recently returned from an ethnoarchaeological expedition to study the Tarahumara.

Ethnoarchaeology combines the study of a people's culture (ethnology) with the study of their past (archeology).

The Indians once covered a wider area in northwestern Mexico but retreated into the remote canyons in the face of Spanish military force and European epidemics in the 17th century. The current estimate of the population of this mobile and highly dispersed people is 50,000.

"We like to go to areas that haven't been touched," says Winn, who listed cave paintings found in the rock shelters as the group's most valuable find.

Other interesting pieces include ceremonial masks, drums, rattles and pottery used by the Tarahumara today. The Indians are a semi-nomadic people who have been known for incredible feats of running, 150 mile races being common.

The rock shelter the group discovered has a kitchen, an oven, a sleeping area, and an area for keeping stock during the night. "Their life style is very stable and has remained relatively unchanged," he said.

The Tarahumara live in scattered household units rather than in villages and value personal freedom and independence.

There has been little penetration into their homelands but now lumbering activities along the northern rim of the Tarahumara country are resulting in ecological damage that may bring about more profound changes in their way of life than those brought by Spanish more than 350 years ago.
